SOME of the great steel towers of the huge radio transmission plant in the vicinity of Port Jefferson, L. I., the largest in the world. There are seventy-two of these towers, each 410 feet high, with a 150-foot cross-arm supporting the antennae. The entire station covers a space of 6,400 acres and can send messages all over the world.

Russian Churches Stripped of Treasures to Aid Famine Sufferers

THE heart-rending famine now scourging Russia has led to the adoption of extraordinary measures for the relief of the starving millions. It is reported that the All-Russian Central Committee has decided to use the valuables in churches throughout Russia for famine purposes. It is probable that in the days of the terror many of these treasures have been taken by the mobs, but if only a tithe be left it must represent an enormous amount of money. It is estimated that the valuables of ten of the most prominent shrines will aggregate $500,000,000. The churches for centuries have received gifts and bequests from pious devotees in the way of golden and jewel-encrusted ikons, chalices and salvers that have a value in money that is almost fabulous. This, it is now stated, will be put in the channels of trade to purchase food for the starving.

CATHEDRAL OF ODESSA
Interior of the famous Russian cathedral whose altar is encrusted with gold and jewels, the gifts of the faithful for many generations. These will now be turned into money for famine relief.

INTERIOR OF THE VLADIMIR
This celebrated church at Kiev is among those whose treasure is to be appropriated as a "loan to God" and used to save the lives of citizens now perishing from starvation.

CHURCH OF THE NATIVITY
Many of the ornaments, chalices, crosses and candlesticks of this Moscow church are made of solid gold and silver and encrusted with jewels, now to be turned into money.

Flames Destroying the Huge Airship Roma at Hampton Roads, Va., Feb. 21

MAMMOTH AIRSHIP ROMA BEING SWEPT BY FLAMES AFTER IT HAD FALLEN TO THE GROUND AT HAMPTON ROADS, VA., FEB. 21. IN THE GREATEST DISASTER THAT EVER BEFELL AMERICAN MILITARY AERONAUTICS, THIRTY-FOUR MEN LOST THEIR LIVES WHEN THE ARMY DIRIGIBLE AIRSHIP ROMA PLUNGED A THOUSAND FEET AND CRASHED TO EARTH IN FLAMES NEAR THE HAMPTON ROADS ARMY BASE. ONLY ELEVEN OF THE FORTY-FIVE MEN WHO WENT UP IN HER SURVIVED, AND SOME OF THEM WERE TERRIBLY BURNED. THREE WERE BUT SLIGHTLY INJURED.

Wreck of Dirigible and Victims of the Great Air Tragedy

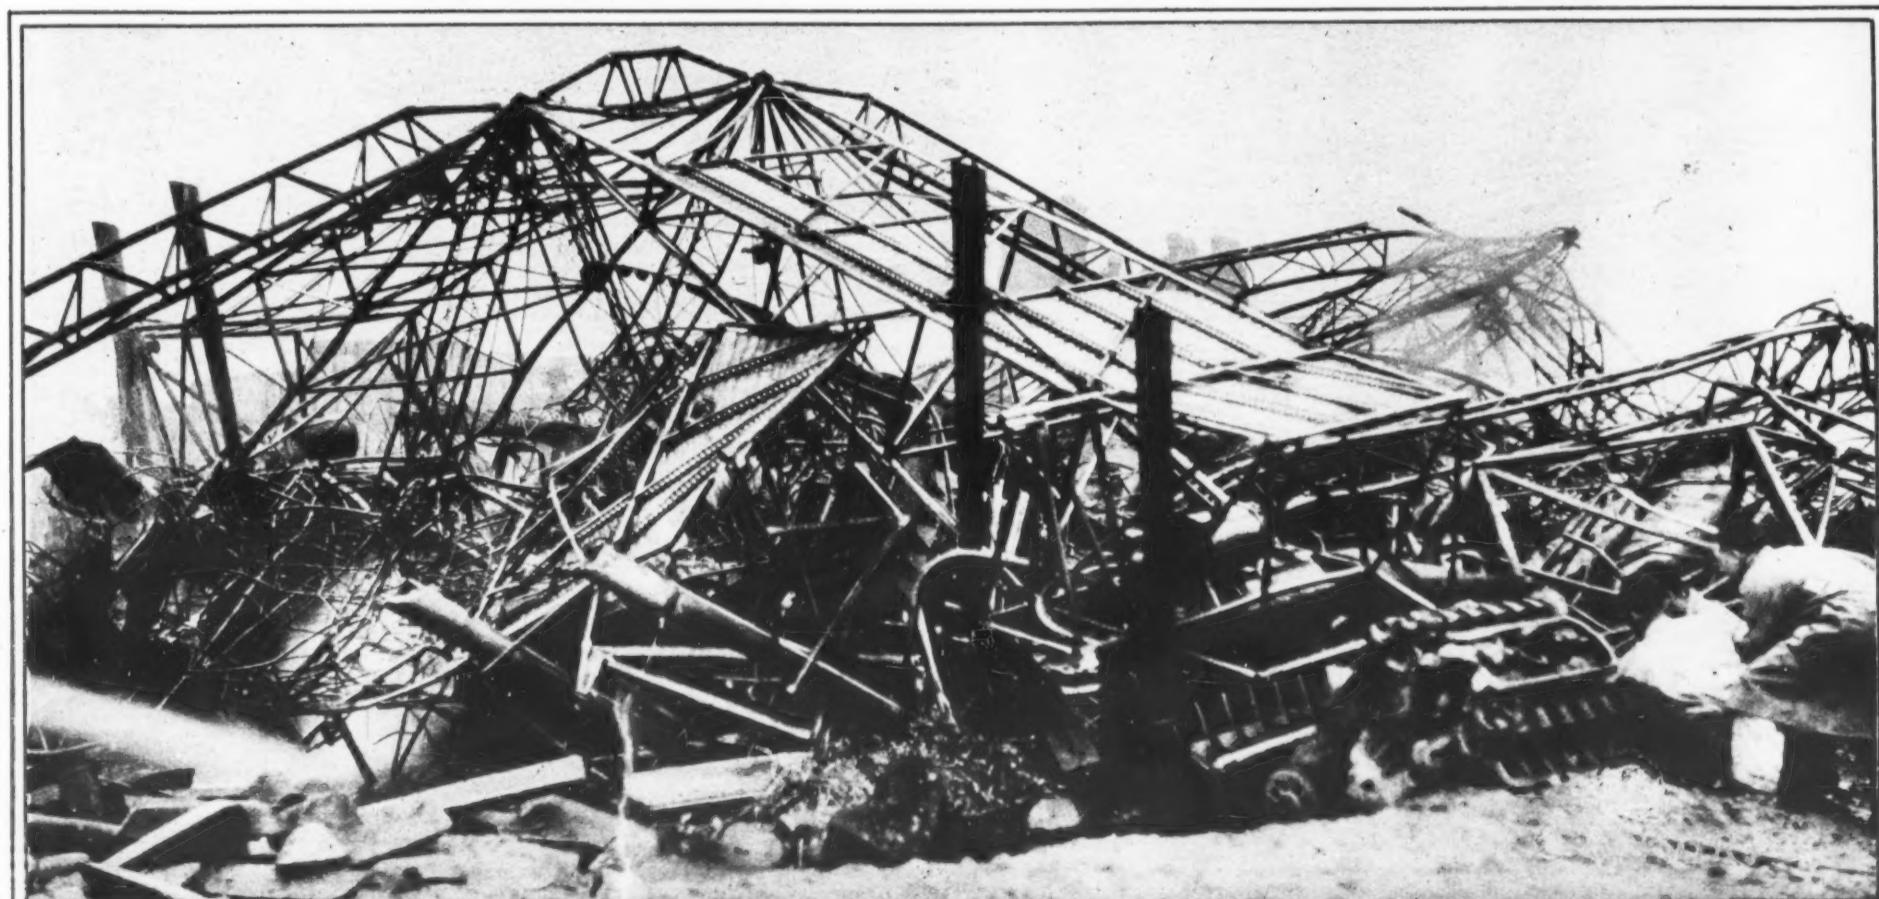

America's greatest semi-rigid dirigible, the Roma, purchased by this Government from Italy, as she appeared when she was making her trial flight at Langley Field, Newport News, Va., on Nov. 15. She was afloat at that time for over three hours, and her machinery worked satisfactorily.

Framework of the ill-fated Roma after the flames had destroyed the combustible parts of the great machine. The metal-clad nose of the Roma had come in contact with high-tension electric power wires, and with a flash and a roar the airship was on fire from stem to stern. (© Wide World Photos.)

Melancholy ruin of the Roma after the fire had done its work. The original cause of the disaster was the breaking of the rudder, affixed in box-kite fashion to the stern. The more horrible phase came just as the stricken craft plummeted into the earth, striking a high-voltage wire that caused it to burst into flames. The crushed, misshapen mass that thudded onto the field was a funeral pyre of such intense heat that the agonies of those who were not killed in the crash must have been mercifully brief. ## Launching of Lifeboat in Terrific Storm Off the Lizard

FOR weeks past the Cornish coast has been lashed with tremendous storms and many vessels have been driven upon the dangerous coast. The Lizard life-boat is here shown being launched during one of the worst of these storms in response to a call for help. The boat has been let down an inclined runway that gives it a certain momentum when it strikes the water and straightens out for the run to the endangered vessel. Beyond the spume can be seen the jagged rocks that have to be weathered by the lifeboat and it's courageous crew before they reach their goal. (© International.)

Amazing Scientific Developments of Modern Times

RADIO telephony has had an extraordinary growth during the last few months. It is estimated that there are today approximately 700,000 American homes, schools, churches and office buildings equipped as receiving stations. More than 15,000 stations have been licensed by the United States Government for transmitting wireless messages of one sort or another. Already great radio corporations have established plants, from which each night are sent out broadcast through the air overhead grand opera, light opera, sermons and market reports as well as children's bedtime stories. The rendition of this ether program can be heard by any one who fastens a set of radio telephone receivers to his or her ears.

Colonnade in the lounge room of the Homeric. It consists of fluted Doric pillars, with bases and capitals richly gilt—a commanding decorative feature with tall windows between, from which the light falls through harmonious draperies. The length of the lounge is 94 feet, its width 47 feet, while the ceiling is 20 feet high, with a great central dome of amber glass.

New 34,000-ton steamship Homeric, the latest luxury liner to be placed in commission for transatlantic service and the largest passenger ship to be brought out since before the war. She belongs to the White Star Line and is exceeded in size only by two other members of that fleet, the Olympic and Majestic. Her length is 777 feet, her breadth 83 feet and her depth from bridge deck to keel 100 feet.

Magnificent Ocean Liner Homeric, the Largest Passenger Ship Built Since the War

IN some respects the Homeric is different from any of the ocean-borne palaces of the Atlantic with which she takes her place. The public rooms are the last word in taste and luxury. Each room in the group has a style and story of its own, and all are quietly elegant, reflecting the essence of Europe's modern arts in design and decoration, adapted to the requirements of modern sea travel. At the forward end of the deck under the navigating bridge is a drawing room with large plate-glass observation windows. Next comes a reading and writing room and next the lounge. Beyond this is a music room and still further on the smoking room, with a glass-enclosed sun veranda completing the group. The view down the full length of the rooms at the sides from drawing room to sun veranda presents an unbroken vista of 340 feet.

Next to the public rooms on the boat deck the most commanding apartment in the Homeric is the first class dining saloon. The distinguishing feature of this room, which has a seating capacity of 500 people, is the lofty central portion, with a great inverted dome of crystal pendants, reflecting in prismatic radiance the brilliancy of hundreds of concealed electric bulbs.

What a difference Cantilever Shoes make

"Oh, come along."

But Dorothy dropped back limply in her chair. "My feet hurt, Peggy. Honestly, I feel just all in."

Peggy kept Bess from leaving, then went at Dorothy again. "You've been shopping with us not two hours and here you are, letting your feet spoil your fun."

"I guess if your feet hurt the way mine do, you—"

"They used to, Dorothy," Peggy interrupted, "only I did something about it. My feet used to throb like a toothache. They spoiled ever so many good times. I was getting to be a real grouch, when Bess got me into Cantilevers."

"And look at Bess! She took a long tramp this morning, she's been shopping with us, but—can you see her missing this tea and the dancing tonight? Indeed she won't! She's been wearing Cantilever Shoes most all the time and never has a bit of foot trouble. She took the physical director's advice at college, like most of the other girls."

"You'll just love Cantilevers, Dorothy, they're such good form and so good-looking."

See how neat and trim ours are. And while you're feeling wretched, tired, just all in, we're up and ready for anything. Dorothy, I can't begin to tell you what comfort Cantilevers are—they make you feel full of pep."

Dorothy squirmed, but she could think of nothing to say.

The following morning three girls entered the nearest Cantilever Store. From that time on, Dorothy was to realize what a difference Cantilever Shoes make in one's enjoyment of everything.

* * *

And why shouldn't every girl, every woman of any age, enjoy the supreme foot comfort that Cantilevers give? They fit like a soft glove. The ordinary shoe seldom fits the arch of the foot. A stiff shank will not conform to the curve of your foot arch, nor will it flex with your arch in walking. Cantilevers do both.

When you lace Cantilevers, the flexible shanks fit right snug under both arches and support them, not like a crutch, but gently and completely, without any restraint, giving perfect circulation and freedom. Your feet feel light and springy.

Stop wearing tight shoes that weaken the muscles and ligaments of your feet. Wear Cantilevers and bring your feet back to life. Go to the nearest dealer now for a fitting.

If no dealer listed at the left is near you, write to the manufacturers, Morse & Burt Co., 11 Carlton Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., for the address of a nearby dealer and a copy of the Cantilever Shoe Booklet which everyone ought to read.
